

Abstract

An apparatus is described having a switch core that has a first channel that can receive a logical input flow from each of a plurality of input ports. The switch core also has a second channel that can receive a raw input flow from each of the plurality of input ports. Each logical input flow is carried by its corresponding raw input flow.

19
Atty Docket No.05288.P008